

2008 Annual Report

Dear Colleagues, Partners and Friends:

The Association of Nurses in AIDS Care (ANAC) was formed in 1987 to provide education and support to HIV/AIDS nurses who work with and advocate for individuals infected with the HIV virus. Our commitment to this ideology remains firm and is evidenced by our growing membership, record attendance at regional and national offerings, our growth in membership, new chapters and our record of external support. ANAC members continue to represent a unique community of committed and passionate health care providers who are dedicated to preventing new HIV infections, caring for the chronically infected and generating or contributing to the science of HIV disease. In the last two years our nurse members have strengthened the nursing response to the global HIV/AIDS epidemic by serving as mentors, teachers, and sometimes caregivers to the global community of nurses in parts of South Africa, a country devastated by the HIV/AIDS pandemic. The success of this model and the impact it has had on HIV infected individuals and systems of care have allowed us to replicate its broad objectives in countries with similar needs. ANAC staff, members, and organizational leaders continue to be consultants to and partner with the Centers of Disease Control, the World Health Organization, Health Resources and Services Administration, the International Association of Physicians in AIDS Care; all testimony to an expanding sphere of influence. The ANAC Board of Directors has appropriated human and financial resources to ensure that the voice of nursing is represented on matters of domestic and international policies that affect the work we do or the care we give. ANAC scientists, researchers, clinicians and educators continue to expand and contribute to the knowledge base of HIV/AIDS through record contributions to the Journal of Association of Nurses in AIDS Care (JANAC). The number of non-nursing and international contributors has grown significantly which is an indication of the value that our publication has to the broader HIV/AIDS community. This year we will also publish the third edition of our compendium of HIV nursing knowledge, The HIV/AIDS Core Curriculum in Nursing. This long awaited update, written by 90 nurse experts, resonates with our core strategic values. It has been a fantastic year and we are pleased to present to you our 2008 annual report. As you will see 2008 has been a year of enormous activity and growth in organization. Without our enormously committed members, the accomplishments highlighted in this document would not be possible. We owe an enormous gratitude to our members, partners, staff and volunteers who work tirelessly to make ANAC the force it has become.

Sincerely,

Carl Kirton

Founded in 1987, the Association of Nurses in AIDS Care (ANAC) has become the pre-eminent leading nursing organization responding to HIV/AIDS. With a highly regarded peer-reviewed journal, 46+ local Chapters, and an Annual Conference featuring national and international speakers and educational and scientific sessions on the latest developments in HIV nursing, ANAC is meeting the needs of nurses in HIV/AIDS care, research, prevention, and policy.

ANAC's Mission Statement

The mission of the Association is to promote the individual and collective professional development of nurses involved in the delivery of health care to persons infected or affected by the Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) and to promote the health and welfare of infected persons by: creating an effective network among nurses in AIDS Care; studying, researching and exchanging information, experiences, and ideas leading to improved care for persons with AIDS/HIV infection; providing leadership to the nursing community in matters related to HIV/AIDS infection; advocating for HIV infected persons; and, promoting social awareness concerning issues related to HIV/AIDS. Inherent in these goals is the abiding commitment to the prevention of further HIV infection.
